

Symposium and PhD defence Helene Tilma Vistisen
Friday 18 December 2015
Merete Barker Auditorium, Building 1253, Bartholins Allé 3, Aarhus University

Epidemiology of shift work, breast cancer, and other health effects

Symposium

- | | |
|--|---|
| 11:00-11.15 | Opening remarks
Henrik Kolstad, Aarhus University Hospital |
| 11:15-11:35 | Shift work, sleep and health. Possibilities for work schedule redesign
Mikko Härmä, Finnish Institute of Occupational Health |
| 11:35-11:55 | Night work and breast cancer: results of the CECILE study, a population-based case-control study in France
Pacal Guenel, Centre de Reserch en Épidémiologie et Santé de Populations |
| 11:55-12:15 | New Tools in Epidemiology
Jørn Olsen, Institute of Public Health |
| 12:15-13:15 | Lunch |
| Phd defence Helene Tilma Vistisen | |
| 13.15-15.15 | Short term effect of night shift work on risk of overall breast cancer and breast cancer classified by estrogen and HER2 receptor status
Assessment committee:
Mikko Härmä, Finnish Institute of Occupational Health, Helsinki, Finland
Pascal Guenel, Centre de Reserch en Épidémiologie et Santé de Populations, INSERM, Paris, France
Jørn Olsen, chairman and moderator of the defence, Institute of Public Health - epidemiology, Aarhus University
Henrik Kolstad, main supervisor and non-voting member, Department of Occupational Medicine, Aarhus University Hospital |
| 15:15 | Reception |

Regarding lunch, please sign up at piapeder@rm.dk no later than 10th of December 2015